

Dear Parent / Carer,

With the half term fast approaching I would like to set your child a challenge, can they visit one or two of the local learning destinations to increase their hours? Below is a list of learning destinations and activities that you could visit with your child over this half term.

We are aiming for some of our children to have earned 30 hours by September 2015, so we can take part in the first graduation ceremony. Remember that after school learning will only count for 10 of the 30 hours. In order to earn the other 20 hours your child will need to visit other local learning destinations. A list is available on our website and you can always search The Children's University™ website for further ideas <http://www.childrensuniversity.co.uk/>.

If, for any reason, your passport does not get stamped by the learning destination, please bring in evidence of your visit i.e. a completed museum trail, activity, work produced etc. and I will be able to stamp your passport.

If your child takes part in my challenge they will receive a special certificate.

Have fun,

Mrs Boutalbi
Deputy Headteacher
